

Daiquiri

I adopted Daiquiri 17 years ago from the Humane Society of San Antonio when she was just five weeks old. Daiquiri was found with her brothers and sisters wandering the streets of San Antonio - and missing their mother. I fell in love.

Daiquiri immediately became part of me - she was my joy. And when I found another long-time love, my husband, JP, I felt our family was perfectly complete. I watched our Daiquiri grow from a frightened little kitten into an adorable cat filled with a personality that lit up the room.

Sadly, we lost Daiquiri last June - just two months before JP and I were to be married. We were devastated. She filled our lives with so much joy - so much celebration - we knew this day would come, we just didn't realize how terribly hard it would be.

And as difficult as it was planning a wedding without her, both JP and I knew that Daiquiri would want us to celebrate our new chapter. There was also no question Daiquiri would be celebrating our wedding in spirit. So, we decided to honor our special day by honoring her life and encouraging our wedding guests to do the same by donating to the Humane Society of San Antonio - and we are so glad we did. We believe every animal deserved a life like Daiquiri's. The least we could do to honor her legacy was to provide other animals the same kind of life.

Daiquiri was - and will always be - the fabric of our being. Daiquiri was more than a pet, she was family, and we will always be grateful for the blessings and precious memories that will last us our whole lives, until we are with her again one day.
