

Wilma

I adopted Wilma seven years ago today from the SAHS and life has only been the better for it. I'd tell her you're welcome, but thank you is much more appropriate, as I don't even want to imagine what life so far might have amounted to without her. (And to think someone actually -returned- her to the shelter. Your loss, my huge gain, dude). Here's to many many more years with her.
