

Kratos

My husband Nick and I adopted Remmington (now Kratos) last August. He was a stray that had been brought in to SAHS. We were looking for a new baby to save and bring into our home. We found Kratos in the puppy area very skinny, confused and scared. After about an hour we knew that he was the missing puzzle piece in our life. We immediately went through the adoption process to bring him home. When we were able to bring Kratos home he was 7.5-8 months old and about 15lbs. We worked diligently to help him gain weight and in just a few short months he was at the proper weight for his age, now he's about a year and a half old and 45lbs! As Kratos regained his health, his personality blossomed. We found out that he was fiercely protective and loyal, gentle, and had a wild sense of humor.

Simply as days pass he becomes more and more perfect! We want to thank SAHS for bringing us the most amazing and important piece of our family to us. His big brother Spud (our basset hound) is absolutely smitten with him, and though our other SAHS rescue, Boots (our kitty) isn't sure what to make of him, Kratos just adores her. We want to thank SAHS for bringing this amazing guy to us and allowing us to provide him the life he deserves!
