

Maggie and Marty

You asked me to let you know how it turned out with the stray (Maggie) we found 2 days before Christmas. Well, her original owners didn't want her anymore. Apparently she had a rectal prolapse and corrective surgery which left her with very loose stools (surgery was 27 October and we found her 23 Dec with the sutures still in place so she was "lost" soon after her surgery). Our adopted dog (Marty) from SAHS was suffering from separation anxiety when I left the house and the new puppy has helped him so much. They adore each other! Our veterinarian has given her meds to fix the loose stool and she is potty training well. We are so glad we gave her a chance and that she found us. Our family is now complete! (notice the "big brother" in the back making faces at the "little sister" lol)
