

Tari

Alana, now called Tari, is fitting in perfectly. She never had that shy, getting to know you period. She jumped out of her carrier, explored the apartment, and claimed the bathtub as her napping spot. She's a cuddle bug, and is in my lap right now, trying to stop me from typing so I'll pet her. I met the woman who surrendered her, she was worried that no one would want Tari because she's a little shy. I hope she sees this update and knows her girl is happy and healthy in a loving home.
