

Tari

It's been one year since we brought Tari (formerly Alana) home! Since then, we've moved twice and had a baby, and she's taken it all in stride (although she prefers to watch our son from a distance, with the occasional sniff to see if he has extra milk she can lick up). She's an oddball who happily wears her harness and leash to go outside, loves to play fetch with her balls for hours (and is better about bringing it back than any dog I've ever had), begs for belly rubs, and tries to shower with me. She also constantly finds new ways to cause trouble, but we couldn't imagine our home without her! /Maggie
