

Bitsy Belle

The kittens we adopted from New Braunfels (“Lobster Harmer” now “Agent Orange”) and from San Antonio (“Queenie” now “Bitsy Belle”) are no longer kittens. They now have a screened in porch so they can think they are outside but are safely “inside”. Agent Orange is still the most love-bug cat we’ve ever had and Miss Bit is sweet and does no wrong. Thanks for caring for them when they were little and allowing us to adopt them. They went to the vet last week and both have a clean bill of health. We are happy and so are they.
