

Nebula

Just wanted to send you an update!

Nebula, AKA Nebby (and formally Skylar before adoption), is doing amazing!

Nebby was a rescue from the Hurricane Harvey floods in Houston. The first picture is when we first met. The second two are after she became a permanent part of our family. She's truly become my best friend, and an amazing partner for my two kids. She instantly found her calling as an emotional support dog for my anxiety disorder and has been helping me every day since. I can truly say I feel so blessed to have found her, and really feel like she saved me, rather than the other way around. Thank you all so much for my bestie!
