

Abby aka Big Mama – Update

She's doing really well still with my parents. They spoil that girl! Abby's Christmas was great! She got a new comfy bed and some toys. My dad continues to take her on daily walks. I have some photos of her with reindeer antlers on but have yet to download them. Once I get the chance I'll send you a pic. She would spend some nights indoors when it was really cold out but didn't like staying in for so long. She'd rather be outdoors in her igloo. She still protects her environment but will not bark or growl at my parent's older cat DJ. She in fact loves her! DJ often visits with Abby in the backyard and my parents have caught them laying down next to each other. Abby does bark at other cats who try to eat DJ's food :-)

We hope to take her on a summer vacation this year. I will try and keep you updated as much as possible!

Thanks again for a wonderful companion!
