

Abby a.k.a. Fomy

We adopted Abby (formerly "Fomy") in February of 2010. She adjusted to living with us quickly, and in no time she was part of our family.

Abby is a lot of fun to be around. She loves trips to the dog park. Her favorite thing is getting all the dogs in the park to chase after her. Once everyone is chasing her she loves to race around the entire park at full speed. If we take her to the lake she enjoys swimming or just splashing in the water. When we're at home, one of her favorite things is playing fetch with her stuffed animals. She also enjoys sleeping on the couch (but she knows she needs to get permission before she climbs up).

Abby is a very quick learner. We did an obedience class with her shortly after adopting her, and she picked up all the commands quickly. She is always eager to please. She's also very motivated by treats, which makes her easy to teach.

Abby has done some traveling, too. She's made many trips to both Austin and Houston, and she likes riding in the car. She seems to adjust very well to being in new places as long as she has her people with her.

Abby is still working on her leash aggression around other dogs. She is generally good, but she doesn't like it when other dogs bark at her when she is on the leash.

Around people Abby is always very sweet and affectionate. We are very happy we adopted her.
