

Pancake

I had adopted a cat named Pancake. I kept her name because it fit her so well. She has 6 large oval spots that look like pancakes. She was very shy in the beginning. She slowly came out from under the couch to eat and check out my apartment.

I have had her almost 3 months and she is like a "mom" cat. She wakes me up everyday about 7:30am and loves to watch TV and hang out in the windows. I let her out on the balcony she loves to roll around on the concrete slab. She is very vocal. We speak all the time. She answers me when I talk to her. I answer her when she talks to me! We keep up great conversations! She is a great addition to my quiet little home and she matches my furniture!

I am truly blessed to have her in my life. I get to come home and say "Honey I'm Home" and she is right there to answer me.
