

From Ana : Lady

"I came from Sao Paulo, Brazil to the USA december of 2006. Leaving my family behind was one of the hardest things I have ever done in my life. I always felt alone here and always wanted a dog. I went to the Humane Society one day and I cried when I got there. I cant imagine what these animals went through, but thank God you guys are there to help. I kept looking at those little things with my heart "in my hands". When I saw Lady, she immediately laid down on her back and wanted me to rub on her. I melted. I knew right then she was the one. I spent about twenty minutes talking to her and she was afraid and shy, but she did not leave my side. Her tag said that she was sick but I didnt care. I asked the lady that workd there what that meant and she told me lady was adopted a month before I went there and the woman that adopted her brought her back because Lady was not eating. Lucky me, now she is all mine. She became since then, my best friend, my confident, my family, my daughter, my everything. She loves me unconditionally. She larned how to "pat on my face" with her paws, she has the best food and the best treats, and I do not think twice before bringing home some kind of bone or some food that I think she might like. We run together, we sleep together, we even "laugh" together. she just doesnt speak. She is the most loving and special dog that I have ever had. I love her with all my heart and I would do anything for her, just to see her happy. I try my best everyday to give her the best life she could have. She is pure and sensitive, and she knows when I am upset, so much, that she kisses me and give me her "hand". We are as close as two people can be. She is an angel God gave to me. Our relationship is a blessing, and I know in my heart that we were meant to be together to make each other happy. I love my little daughter!"
