

Last year I adopted a little chihuahua named Chaplin (Thor). He was an absolutely awesome little senior dog. We went on some big adventures this year and shared a lot of love.

He was diagnosed with a spinal tumor a little over a week ago and after doing everything we could to make him as comfortable and happy as possible today we helped him pass on to another journey.

I still have Bing, another senior chihuahua mix I adopted shortly after Thor. She's getting extra spoiled these days.

Thank you so much for everything you do <3
