

My name is Allen Baldwin, Jr. and I adopted Savra on April 5, 2007. She was only 2 months old when we found each other. She has been my best friend for almost 14 years. I had always wanted a Doberman, but never knew how this one would change my life. We have been through so much together and I am now caring for her in her golden years. I can't imagine doing life without her. I love her from her propeller tail to her floppy ears, that I couldn't bring myself to ever clip. She has been the sweetest and kindest dog I have ever known. She has taught me about love, friendship, and loyalty. She has slept with me every night since she was a puppy. She is there for me if I get sick and won't leave my side. She is smart and funny too. I have enjoyed every smile she has put on my face throughout the years... from playing fetch for hours on our 5 acres in the country, to howling at cry-baby squeaky toys, to watching her run away from my nieces and all tiny humans, to loving car rides in my Challenger, any kind of water to play in, or just hanging out watching TV. Adopting her was the greatest thing I have ever done. In truth, she adopted me right back and has wrapped my heart up with hers forever.
