“Paws in Prison” Dogs Graduate

W

e are so grateful to the inmates who have fostered our three special pets from the Humane Society of San Antonio and provided training and love through the last 12 weeks, making them more adoptable. We’re so pleased that there is a family taking Sierra, one of our most challenging cocker spaniels, home.

Below are the following speeches given by the prisoner partners in Lockhart about the “Paws in Prison” program during their recent graduation ceremony which was attended by 32 Humane Society supporters and staff.

Greta

I’m Laura and this is my partner Mandy and this is Greta. It has been really fun having her, its been an experience I never thought I would go through in prison. It is not often that people get second chances in life, and to a greater extent that also applies to animals. So when there is an opportunity for both person and animal to share in a collaborative endeavor for what amounts to not only a second chance for the inmate, but a first chance for the dog – that is always a cause for celebration.

When we got Greta she was just a dog to us. She was this gorgeous little creature with deep soulful eyes, but it was obvious that she had an uncertainty about her current situation. It suddenly came to us that we were meant to be with Greta and she was meant to be with us for the perfect amount of time to learn and grow together. However, over the course of our time with Greta, we quickly learned she is more, much more, than just a dog. She’s become an inspiration and an idealized personification of how someone can be reintegrated into society with a seamless and flawless transition. All the while we were teaching Greta how to be a proper and loving companion in a family, we were learning from her. Greta also taught us that little things do matter. She taught us an appreciation for patience, love, respect, and authority while giving us a foundation to improve ourselves and begin to focus back on our lives. One can not expect to successfully teach these traits without demonstrating them first and believing in them. So it is with heartfelt gratitude that I thank not only the program, but Greta. I can say with certainty that she had impacted us. And going forward, speaking for myself, many of my future conscious and diligent endeavours will be attributed to this beautiful and wonderful dog. Thanks Greta!

Sierra

Sierra is a cocker spaniel and when she first arrived here, they had nicknamed her the “snapping turtle.” We’ve helped her get over her fear of people and worked through that so now Sierra is able to accept someone rubbing her under her chin or talking to her, sitting on the ground.

Sierra has learned the following commands: roll over, down, stay, come (when called) and how to walk on a loose leash. She is so cute and adorable, especially when she stands on her two hind legs because she looks like a bear, trying to climb a tree.

She’s become an inspiration and an idealized personification of how someone can be reintegrated into society with a seamless and flawless transition.

Many of my future conscious and diligent endeavours will be attributed to this beautiful and wonderful dog.

Hi, my name is Sierra Lancaster. My mother gave me my name at birth and my foster parents gave me my last name, after San Antonio. Since the day I was brought into this facility, I knew I wasn't going to leave the same. When I got here and saw all the people everywhere, I quickly became scared and nervous.

My journey here has been tough, but since the first day of being here I have been shown nothing but love. Even though I require much attention and love to be spoken to in a kind and gentle manner, I am very loving. Patience is truly a virtue with me.

I enjoy being read to at night before I fall asleep and I'm quite the good ball player. I will play fetch with you and a tennis ball for hours on end, even if your arm is ready to fall off. I'm not a morning dog, but I will wake you up every morning with my sweet face on your pillow and my cute nose in your ear.

Candy

Candy came into our lives like a breath of fresh air. She is full of life and energy and spirit. When we first saw her, she didn't flinch when we approached her. What struck us the most were her eyes, they were soft and innocent. At that moment, our hearts melted. Candy is truly bright and excited to learn. As we trained and worked with her, we saw dramatic change in her as if we were restoring a sense of worth, pride, and dignity.

Candy never wants to be far from you, but if you should ever go, on your return she'll be waiting with a smile. She has been a joy to have. The spirit Candy has shown for survival is encouragement to us, where we are all on the same path of life. Over the past few months she has learned the commands for sit, down, rollover, shake, high five, and our favorite, kiss. We are very proud of Candy.

And last but not least we would like to thank San Antonio Humane Society for bringing this wonder into our life. Candy has a lot of love to give and will be the missing piece to the perfect family's life. Please help us in finding her puzzle.

Success Story - Freckles

Freckles, an Australian Cattle dog mix was 13 weeks old when he came to the Humane Society. This cute pup had a previous shoulder injury which caused radial nerve damage to the lower leg. This injury could have been caused by pulling on the leg, picking him up by the leg only, or being hit by a car. Unfortunately, Freckles had to have his leg amputated. He was rehabilitated after surgery by the Humane Society staff and was then put up for adoption. It didn't take long before he found his new home! Here is the report from Barley's (aka Freckles) family.

"Barley (aka Freckles) is doing great. He is really out going and gets along with my other dogs. It's nice when you have well trained dogs because he has learned a lot from them. His favorite friend is a 6 month old kitten. He sleeps between my husband and me every night, on his back with his good front leg sticking straight up.

Transferred Pups Get a Second Chance

The Humane Society partnered with Animal Care Services to rescue 10 little puppies from a unsafe and overcrowded private home. When these puppies came to us we could see that their previous owners had tried to care for them. They were well fed, but because there were so many, none of them received the attention they needed. As a result, these beautiful babies did not really understand what it meant to be petted, held and loved. Through the kind, loving staff and volunteers at the Humane Society, they received lots of hugs and attention. Half of these puppies have already been adopted into loving homes. Sadly, the remaining puppies are still recovering from illnesses that were a result of their poor start in life. As soon as they are well, they hope to be as lucky as their siblings and find an adopted family of their very own.

Grand Opening of Spay Neuter Suite

Humane Society of San Antonio Executive Director, Kathryn Bice with Executive Director of PetSmart Charities, Susana DellaMaddalena and Elizabeth Jones, Daughter of Dorothy and John Wilson

The Humane Society of San Antonio was extremely proud to open the John C. & Dorothy R. Wilson Spay Neuter Surgical Suite this summer to serve not only our sheltered animals but low income families' pets as well. Since its opening, Dr. Courtney Hurst has performed over 1,000 surgeries on dogs and cats. Considering that each of these pets could have bred at least twice in the upcoming year, a possible 10,000 unwanted pets were prevented.

"There are many reasons that this surgical suite is so vital to our community," Kathryn Bice the Executive Director stated. "With the opening of this suite, the Humane Society will have the capability to spay and neuter up to 10,000 dogs and cats annually". Dr. Hurst noted that "Not only should animals be spayed and neutered because of the severe pet over population, but health, temperament, possible tendencies of aggression and overall life span of the pet is greatly improved.

The Humane Society supports spay neuter clinics around San Antonio while educating the public on the importance of spaying and neutering pets. "The opening of our own onsite clinic was a natural progression in our fight to save lives" said Cynthia Martinez, Director Operations.

The funding for the spay neuter clinic was made possible by the generosity of the following donors: Dorothy R. Wilson, PetSmart Charities and an anonymous donor of the San Antonio Area Foundation.
