I just wanted to give you guys a little update on Scuttle: he has been renamed Finn 😊 he now has an older sister and little brother that he loves to play with. He LOVES when we give him all of our attention and he seems fascinated by TV (he gets excited when he sees other animals on screen, but also gets scared if it's something he doesn't like). Overall, he's adjusting well and we're so happy he's now a part of our family.
