"Walt has been enjoying his time with me as much as I've been enjoying my time with him. He has been making friends with people in the neighborhood and is more popular than me.

I have found that having cartoons on for him settles him & puts him at ease on days I have to go into the office; he seems to be a fan of 80s & 90s shows more than any recent characters. He gets frequent walks throughout the day and prefers that more than being in the backyard. We still play tug o war & chase each other when we steal a tennis ball from each other. He has chosen to interrupt my morning workouts with playtime but he can still offer a workout some mornings.

Here are a few pics you can share with the team; he's still the same lovable goofball you all may have remembered. Additionally, at his Jan 2024 check-in, he was tested and confirmed heart worm-free."
